

ANNOUNCING the release of Blah, Blah, Blah: Making Sense of the World's Spiritual Chatter (Bethany House/Baker Books, April 2006) a fun and simple book about preparing young people for the massive pluralism they'll surely encounter in college and beyond.

The author, Bayard Taylor, has worked for the last ten years at a major Christian publishing house as Biblical and Theological Editor. He has an M.Div. from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School (Deerfield, Illinois).

Over the past three years he's been teaching worldviews and the biblical worldview to high school, college and parent groups.

Charlie Lowell of Jars of Clay has written the foreword.

Endorsements: Roger Cross (former Ventura County director and 13-year president of Youth For Christ), Don Richardson (missionary and author of Peace Child) and Mike McClymond (professor of American religions at Saint Louis University).

Please visit the website www.blahblahbook.com.